

This initiative connects immigrant survivors of domestic violence with pro bono attorneys to obtain legal status in the United States. U Nonimmigrant Status—commonly known as “U-Visas”—are available to crime victims who have suffered substantial physical or mental abuse and have cooperated with law enforcement. Pro bono attorneys prepare U-Visas for LSNYC clients from start to finish. Although the number of hours varies by case, each should require no more than 40 hours of time. Time spent preparing the application can be spread out over several months. Note that many of these clients speak Spanish or another language, and may require an interpreter.

Scope of work for pro bono volunteers includes:

- a. Meet with the client and confer with LSNYC attorneys about the contours of the case.
- b. Prepare client affidavit and relevant USCIS forms. Note that client affidavit preparation can take several meetings, and be both emotional and draining because of the history of violence.
- c. Obtain law enforcement certification with assistance from LSNYC.
- d. Help client obtain and submit relevant biographical information.
- e. Respond to any requests for additional information from USCIS.

Law firms, corporations, law firm lawyers, and in-house counsel who are interested in partnering with LSNYC are encouraged to reach out to learn more. Please contact Adam J.
