Who We Are

Manhattan Legal Services (MLS) fights poverty and seeks racial, social, and economic justice for low-income residents of Manhattan by providing free legal representation, systemic advocacy, and community education. 85% of the people served by MLS live on less than $15,000 a year, and face such daunting crises as loss of housing, barriers to employment, illegal debt collection, denial of essential government benefits, and precarious immigration status. In addition to living in poverty, the people served by MLS belong to Manhattan's most disadvantaged populations including people living with HIV, individuals with disabilities, the elderly, survivors of domestic violence, immigrants, and the unemployed. By working with community residents and providers to identify the pressing issues that impact their communities and finding systemic solutions, MLS advocates bring about lasting change for Manhattan's most vulnerable residents.

Neighborhood Trust Financial Partners was founded in 1997 in response to the financial disenfranchisement of Washington Heights, beginning as a credit union serving the local Latino immigrant community. Since then it has grown independently as a nonprofit and social enterprise, partnering with a multitude of institutions with strong ties to financially underserved populations and continually innovating its services for those settings. In 2013, Mayor Bloomberg named Neighborhood Trust one of New York City's most innovative and data-driven nonprofits leading the fight against poverty.
